Let's dance to the beat, the roaring rhythm of the beat!
Hear the music pumping, feel the music thumping,
An endless party - why don't you come and feel the heat!

Now come and watch the ol'Rendog in his corner,
This ain't no children's dancefloor - not by a quarter!
Turning, twisting, stomping, clapping; twirling, dancing, voices overlapping;
Feel the heat of the dance - and pass the mic onto Cleo!

Yo!
Come on, get ready,
I'm the life of the party,
Spitting a haiku (with a modern quick brutality),
I may not have perfect prose but I got plenty of vitality!

Feel the party surging, feel the energy soaring - an endless scream into the night!

Lottie

A pair of friends, in business together
A set of shops branded in concorp blue,
A profit that seemed to grow forever
A capital empire, built by two.

The first was starship goodtimes' commander
Followed by jellie, feline companion
In terraforming, he set the standard
There was no project he would abandon

The second was an expert in redstone
A genius who went by the name of cub
The man who created many a drone
For surveying things from way up above

Scar was needed as captain angry eyes
Now concorp's future is left a surprise

There's an island amidst the sea, where friendships bloom and rivalries breed.
10 Regions, 21 friends,
a year has passed and the game doesn't seem to have an end.

In dual war or laughter filled peace,
in harmless prank or kindly favour.
They all remain close,
birds of a feather.

For the sixth time they've come together as friends,
to create and smile through joy filled days.
Letting us watch as they live their digital lives,
through a screen we leave our troubles behind.
